Mr. Lwanga is Kisa's Grandfather

By Henry Ssebutemba and Esther Naluwaga

Llwanga Llwanga

Mr. Llwanga Llwanga is the grandfather for our school. He is 78 years old. He brings many American visitors to Kisa school. He wants to help build a secondary school at Kisa. Mr. Lwanga lives in Seattle where he was friends with Uncle Tom. He has traveled in many foreign countries such as Japan, America and China. His best subject is math. If you want to know math, find Mr. Lwanga and let him teach you. He really knows math.

It's a Big Job to Cook Lunch Every Day for 350 Hungry Students

Reported by: Nanyanzi Mary, Nakiwala Sandra, Ampaire Patra, Kansiime Braria, Kisaakye Patience

We have 5 cooks at Kisa school. Grace Kibuuka Is the food director. Aunt Nabukenya is the chief cook. She came here in 2000. She is 27 years old. There are four more cooks to help her.

They cook lunch everyday for 350 students. They also cook porridge for break. The cooks are: Aunt Nabukenya, Mama Zidoolo, Mama Simon, Mama Claire and Mama Kajimu.

They cook posho, beans, somosas and porridge, irish potatoes and matooke. Seven kilos of posho are cooked every day for lunch. Most food is boiled not fried.

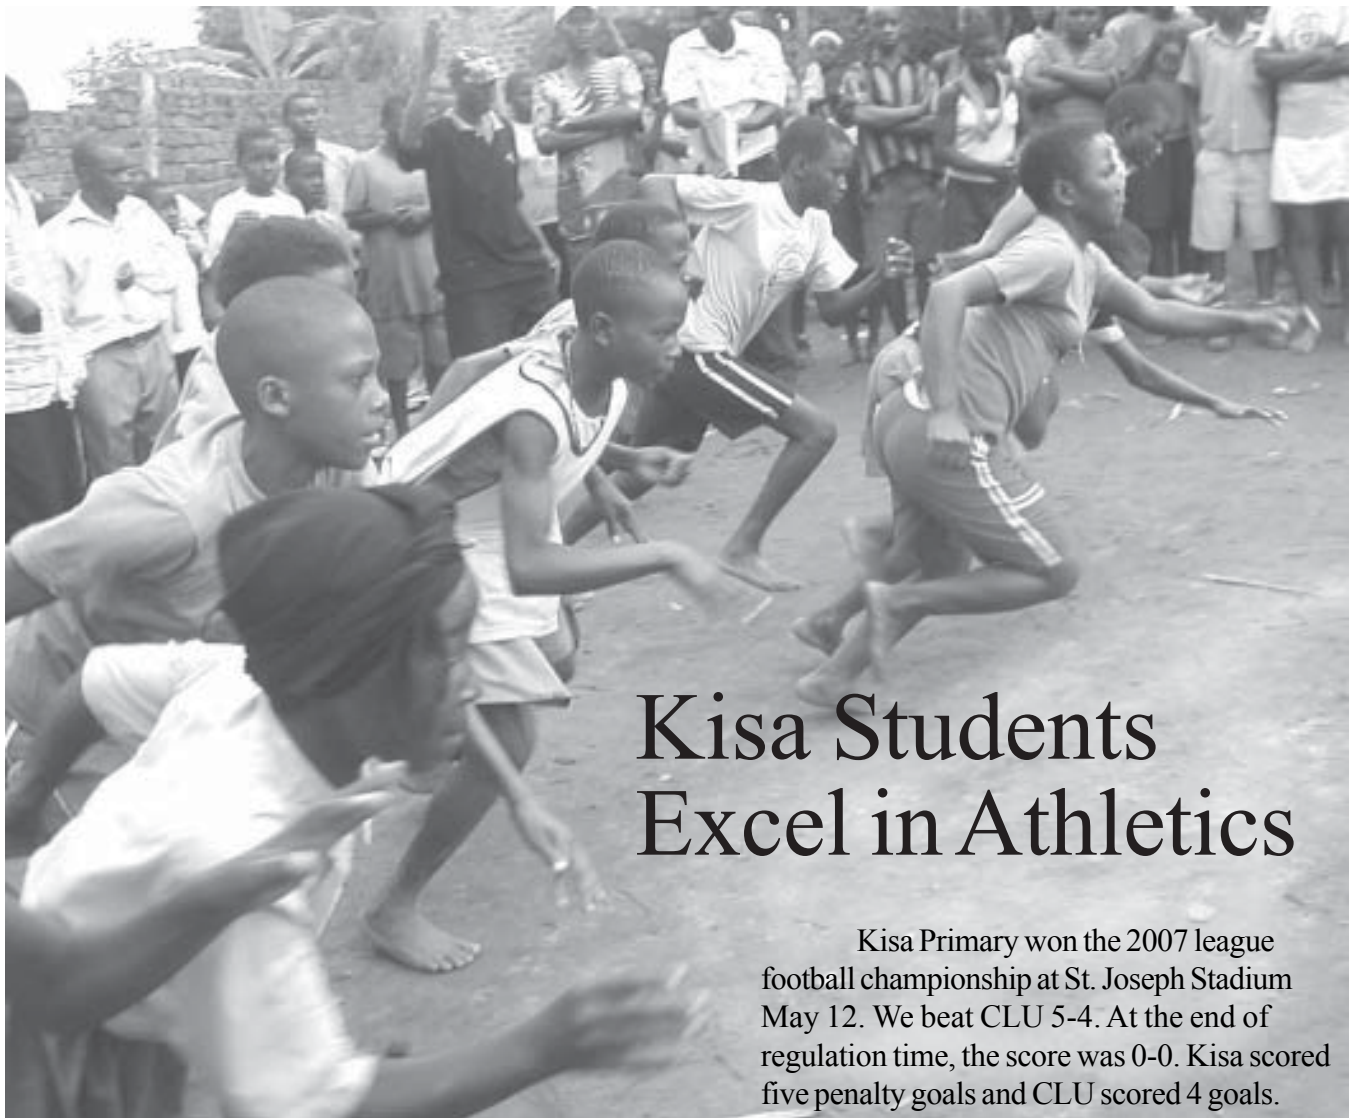

One day Aunt Nabukenya was sick. Some men were hired to cook food that day but they burnt it.

Kisa School Was Started to Help Orphans and Poor Families

School Director Jimmy Kibuuka lays bricks for our new kitchen.

Reported By: Kiwalabye Edward, Nakawuma Rose, Namuleme Claire, Kitaka Michael, Baagala Persis, Ssemwogerere Abubaker, Lugwana John, Kateregga Moses, Ssegguja Bosco.

Kisa primary school is located in the town of Nansana in Wakiso District in Nabweru sub-county. It is 15 years old and was founded in 1992. The people who started our school are Irene and Jimmy Kibuuka and their uncle Llwanga Lwanga who is 75 years old. Their goal in starting the school was to help poor children who don't have enough money for fees and to help orphans. The biggest problem for Kisa school is that many parents don't have enough money for fees. Then their children can't come to school.

In 2008, there are 350 pupils at Kisa Primary. We have classes P1 through P7 and also a baby class. Jimmy Kibuuka is the LC 1 chairman in NansanaWest 1. He also teaches mathematics. He also did much of the construction at our school. In 2006 a big storm came up, and the roof blew off the main class room building. Jimmy repaired the roof.

New Kitchen Will be Ready in April

On March 20th, Kisa Director Jimmy Kibuuka and two labourers resumed work on our new kitchen building which was started in November last year. The kitchen will have two rooms. It will have concrete floors. It will have new high efficiency stoves. This will save on firewood costs, and the air will be better for the cooks to work in. The new kitchen will be finished in April.

Tragedy Strikes Our School

Reported by: Nanyanzi Mary, Ndagire Allen, Kizza Charles, Lukwago Yusuf, Lule Joseph.

Our classmate Reagan Kiirya, age 7, was killed by a car when he was walking to school on Tuesday Feb 25th, 2008, at 7:30 am. The accident was on Hoima Road. Reagan was in P3. His teacher was Aunt Eva. Reagan lived in Nansana with his mother and father. He was his parents' only child.

His Mother Gertrude Nakafeero said she loved Reagan very much. She said if she left him at home by himself he would cook his own food. He knew how to play football. His classmates said he was very handsome and the strongest boy in P3 class.

Rev. Father Mwebe led a memorial service for Reagan Kiirya at Kisa School
